ADVANT Beiten Recruits Three-Member Tax Team with Partner Dr Joachim Reichenberger from Luther

Munich, 1 October 2024 – The international law firm ADVANT Beiten continues to expand its Tax practice group by winning Dr Joachim Reichenberger, LL.M. from Luther. Joachim Reichenberger joins together with the two associates Miriam Misterek and Alexandra Möller. The team will join ADVANT Beiten's Munich office on 1 October of this year.

Dr Joachim Reichenberger, LL.M. has many years of experience in advising on cross-border structures and advises his clients on all questions of tax and corporate social security law. As a special focus of his work, he advises in particular on the interface between (wage) tax law and labour and (company) social security law, for which he can rely on his ten years of professional experience as a civil servant at the German Pension Insurance (Deutsche Rentenversicherung). A further focus of his work is on providing support in the context of restructurings. Here, in particular, he provides tax and social security law advice on socially responsible staff reduction measures, in which he supports companies in the optimisation of social plans and their subsequent implementation. Moreover, Joachim Reichenberger advises wealthy private individuals (HNWI and UHNWI), including numerous well-known professional athletes, on tax, social security and labour law issues, in particular in the context of moving to or from Germany

Miriam Misterek advises national and international clients on all issues related to individual and collective labour law as well as on in and out-of-court dispute resolution. She also focuses on tax and social security law advice on socially responsible staff reduction measures.

Alexandra Möller advises on cross-border structuring and on all issues relating to tax and corporate social security law. As a special focus of her work, she advises in particular on the interface between (wage) tax law and labour and (company) social security law. A further focus of her work is on restructuring, in particular advising on socially responsible staff reduction measures, in which she assists companies in the optimisation of social plans and their subsequent implementation. In addition, she provides legal advice to wealthy private individuals.

'We are pleased to have Joachim Reichenberger, another very experienced colleague, on board with his team. His tax expertise, particularly at the interface with social security law with a focus on restructuring, fits perfectly into our cross-location and cross-practice group advisory portfolio,' comments Dr Guido Krüger, Managing Partner of ADVANT Beiten and adds: 'The expertise of Joachim

Reichenberger and his team also complements us excellently in the area of private clients.'

Dr Joachim Reichenberger on his decision: 'ADVANT Beiten is one of the leading names in the field of tax law and, with its focus, is the ideal platform for us to provide interdisciplinary and cross-border advice. We are very much looking forward to working with our new colleagues and becoming part of this team.'

After ADVANT Beiten strengthened its tax department at the Hamburg office in March of this year with a three-person team led by partner Martin Seevers from EY Law, Heiko Wunderlich joined the Munich office in August. The present arrival of Mr Reichenberger is already the third addition at equity partner level this year and underlines the importance of the tax practice group for the firm.
